

Architecture and Urban Design Studio Lead GSI

Instructor: Kim Suczynski-Smith | 1 Position | 30/wk

ENV DES 9: embARC Summer Design Academy

embARC is an intensive four-week (July 8-August 2, 2019) summer design and planning course for high school. The program allows students to explore the fields of environmental design and city planning while experiencing the culture of the design/planning studio.

We are hiring a Lead GSI to assist in executing the Architecture and Urban Design Studio. Students will experience what it is like to work on their own design projects in a studio environment. With a locally-based project, students will have the opportunity to make first-hand observations of the area through numerous guided site visits, which will help inform the individual design proposals for the city. Instruction on freehand sketching, drafting, model building, digital representation and sustainable building practices will teach students how to think and communicate two and three-dimensional design ideas. The studio will culminate in a final design review, where students will exhibit, present, and discuss their work with CED faculty, graduate students and alumni.

The position is open to continuing graduate students who are in the Department of Landscape Architecture or Architecture. Previous experience teaching a design studio or course is required. Ideal candidates will also have leadership experience in giving direction and oversight to teams of 2-3 people. As the Lead GSI you will be expected to work with Kim Suczynski-Smith on the execution of assignments, gathering of supplies, and preparation of short tutorials, in addition to providing oversight of the other teaching staff.

All qualified applicants who are being considered for the positions must successfully complete a background check. The GSI position compensation will include one week of curriculum development with instructor prior to the start of the academy.

Training and preparation dates will be determined prior to the end of the spring semester. GSI will commit to an average of 30 hours per week for the four week program beginning July 8-August 2, 2019. Additional obligations include office hours one evening per week, attending a Field Trip, a portfolio workshop and a graduation ceremony on the last day of the program.
